

BISHOP COTTON'S BOYS HR.SEC SCHOOL

ABOUT:

Bishop Cotton Boys' School had its genesis in the vision of Bishop George Lynch Cotton of Calcutta. His idea was to set up schools to educate European and Eurasian children of limited means. The idea received support from the Viceroy, Lord Canning. The school in Bangalore became a reality in the hands of Rev. Samuel Thomas Pettigrew, Chaplain of St. Mark's Church. Bishop Cotton School opened its doors in a humble house on High Grounds on the 19th of April, 1865, with Mr. G. Reynolds as its first Headmaster.

A school whose rich history is blended with surging innovation, Bishop Cotton Boys' School has left its mark on all aspects of education. Cottons is a perfect mixture of holistic education coupled with character building, co-curricular activities and sports all in a sheath of discipline and respect towards the Almighty. They also wanted to make known some of their notable alumni like Nandan Nilekani (Indian Entrepreneur, bureaucrat and politician), Brijesh Patel (Indian Cricketer-Bowler-1974 to 1979), Raja Ramanna (Indian Nuclear Scientist), Feroz Khan (Actor, producer, director), to name a few of the prominent ones.

Currently, the website is functioning successfully with a good amount of traffic visiting the website. Since the focus was to upload and make available some key details and information about the school, the achievements, the activities and the alumni, thus making it a transparent website with all the important details for the public to be updated with.
